Dan Jaffe from ANA reported to me that a reporter that was interviewing him said that he had spoken w/Shalala, who said the ADAMHA regs are coming out next week.

Besides an FYI, I think you will want to consider in advance what we say in response to their issuance. One could argue that we could leverage off their issuance along the lines of the FDA Insuider Report--ie, that Congress made a policy decision 3 years ago to give states the responsibility in this area, that was the right decision, that HHS has sat on these regs for 3 years as the problem of youth smoking grew worse, that FDA is now dictating what should be done rather than the states, that our AAA program is pegged to ADAMHA and Congress's poicy decision to give statesa the responsibilty, etc.

This, in my mind, is a communications call--do we do press conference, a statement, nothing—I don't have the answers yet. But set forth above are some of the questions. Let me know what you all think. Thanks.
